About the CORRIDOR JAZZ PROJECT

The Corridor Jazz Project turns 18 in 2025, the same age as many of our musicians! The program has changed and grown a lot since we began in 2008 with just eight schools. One thing that hasn't changed is that every year, I am simply knocked out by the quality of each band and the songs they bring to our recording session. Big school or small, everyone brings their "A" game to the studio, and you can certainly tell as you listen to each song.

As KCCK celebrates our 50th year in 2025, it's such a pleasure to also showcase a record twenty-one bands in the Corridor Jazz Project! Welcome to our twenty-first school, joining the program for the first time, West Liberty Varsity Jazz directed by Ashley Smith.

Concert Etiquette

We understand this may be just about the longest concert you've ever attended. In fact, tonight we'll present more groups than some music festivals do in an entire weekend!

If you've seen all you want to see, don't feel bad for taking off before the end of the night. If the bands you want to see happen to be at opposite ends of the schedule, feel free to leave and return.

All we ask is that you wait for the current performance to end before moving around, and to be polite to those other patrons near your seat.

Jazz 88.3 KCCCK

Enriching the Community

Jazz 88.3 KCCCK is a noncommercial, educational FM radio station operated by Kirkwood Community College. KCCCK enriches the cultural environment of the Cedar Rapids and Iowa City communities through a variety of on-air programs and community outreach activities. Many of these programs center on the promotion and preservation of jazz, America's only indigenous musical art form.

KCCCK programs a rich on-air schedule of jazz, blues, and related music every day, and produces programs designed to enhance the listener's appreciation of this unique art music.

In addition to high-quality on-air programs, KCCCK brings jazz to the Corridor community in a variety of venues:

- For nearly 30 years, KCCCK has sponsored and organized Jazz Under the Stars, a free concert series designed to bring exposure to both professional and student jazz performers in our region, all in a free, family-friendly atmosphere.
- KCCCK produces several concerts and programs each year. These include an annual broadcast of the main stage performances at the Iowa City Jazz Festival, along with other concert broadcasts, including student bands from the U of I, Kirkwood, and others.
- The Corridor Jazz Project is just one of several education programs KCCCK has designed to bring jazz to young people. Others include:
  - Schoolhouse Jazz, which encompasses narration, performance, and student participation to help elementary students understand jazz as a musical form, and also its enormous impact on American culture and history.
  - Middle School Jazz Band Camp, a weeklong campus experience for students entering grades 7 – 9, which brings young band students into contact with peers from other schools and directors from area high schools and colleges to enrich their middle school instrumental experience and help prepare them for high school band.

Jazz 88.3 reaches an audience of about 17,000 people each week. Over 15,000 more attend events or are served by our jazz education programs. KCCCK receives operating support from Kirkwood as well as a number of community and government entities, but individual listener contributions make up nearly a third of the station's cash operating budget. All contributions to KCCCK are tax deductible to the full extent of the law.

APRIL JAZZ APPRECIATION MONTH STUDENT DJ SCHEDULE

Listen to KCCCK during April Jazz Appreciation Month as students from each Corridor jazz band will be guest DJs! Students will spin tunes they've enjoyed or played in school, and talk about why they play and listen to jazz. And they never EVER try to embarrass their director! Honest.

All guest DJ shows will be at 4 p.m.

Scan the QR code, or find the schedule at www.kccck.org/studentdjs.
